Explain how Hitler and the Nazis would present the same set of data about Germany's industrial production during World War II to three different groups of people. Think about what the audience would want to hear. The first one has been done for you. Read this and use it as a model for answering the question for the other two groups.

Group 1: Workers Group 2: The Army Group 3: Businessmen and factory owners

Group 1: Workers	Group 2: The Army	Group 3: Businessmen and factory owners
Hitler would use the three graphs to show that there were plenty of jobs for the workers in Germany producing the weapons for the war. Hitler could also say that the rising aircraft and tank production showed the strength of Germany's armed forces. He would say that this showed that the Nazis were protecting the German people well. The graph of coal production could be used to show that there was fuel for factories and homes.
